

FIRST RUN FEATURES PRESENTS

-The New York Times

“With sterling journalism, this fascinating and fast-paced documentary about the ‘Canadian Caper’ is an espionage thriller in itself.”

-Film Journal International

“A counterpart to Argo that straightens out the liberties that film took with historical facts.”

-The Hollywood Reporter

“Takes this exciting story and gives it an immediacy that makes it feel topical and deeply thrilling. A beautifully made piece of work.”

-Criterion Cast

“An intelligent and tension-filled story that breathes life into historical events and adds rich detail to the events from the people who were there.”

-Toronto Star

“Fascinating...this film had me in its grip from the very opening.” -PopCulture Beast

2015 THEATRICAL RELEASE

Our Man In Tehran explores the real story behind the Oscar-winning film Argo. In this gripping documentary, the story of the “Canadian Caper” is told by the man who knows it best: Ken Taylor, Canada’s former ambassador to Iran, who hid the six Americans and obtained the counterfeit documents that allowed them to make their dramatic escape from Tehran. The film uncovers new information and adds valuable context, including a historical overview of Iran as well as interviews with the rescued Americans, former Prime Minister Joe Clark, ex-CIA officer Tony Mendez, and many others.
