ACADEMY AWARD®
NOMINEE BEST FOREIGN LANGUAGE FILM

GOLDEN GLOBE AWARD®
NOMINEE BEST FOREIGN LANGUAGE FILM

“A CAUSE FOR CELEBRATION.

This potent, intimate war movie has the emotional force and intelligence to break through apathy and ignorance. A triumph...a tough-minded, lucid, even gravely beautiful drama.”

- Michael Sragow, FILM COMMENT

“A modestly MAGNIFICENT fable of enemies in a time of war. Ivo is a marvelous character, and Mr. Ulfsak is nothing short of masterly in the role. This remarkable piece of antiwar cinema honors its theme, and the movie medium.”

- Joe Morgenstern, WALL STREET JOURNAL

“★★★★! Director Zaza Urushadze has performed A SMALL MIRACLE by presenting the insanity of war in such a compact form. Tangerines' insights might not be of the grandiose sort found in Hollywood's massive battle epics. But they are perhaps even more affecting because of the film's intimate scale.”

- Susan Wloszczyna, ROGEREBERT.COM

“POWERFUL. So exceptional is veteran actor Lembit Ulfsak that it has sent me searching for anything he has appeared in.”

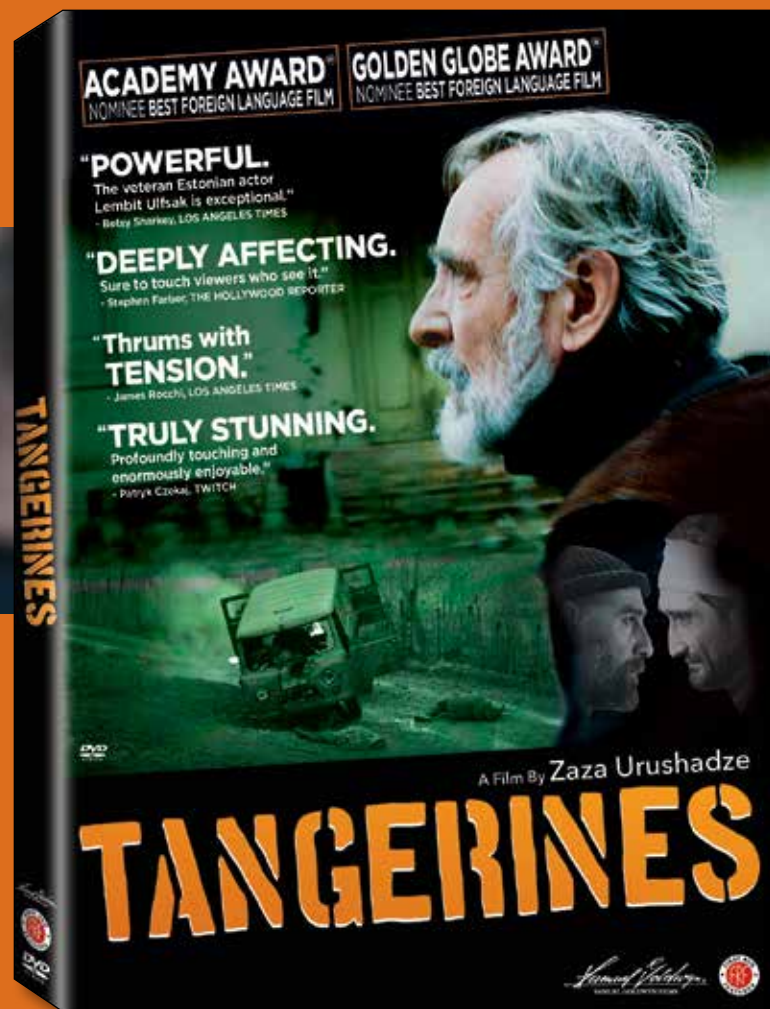

- Betsy Sharkey, LOS ANGELES TIMES

“DEEPLY AFFECTING.
Sure to touch viewers who see it.”

- Stephen Farber, THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER

“TRULY STUNNING! Profoundly touching and enormously enjoyable.”

- Patryk Czekaj, TWITCH

TANGERINES is a story of awakening humanity in the midst of violence, told with intimacy and elegance by writer/director Zaza Urushadze. Nominated for an Academy Award as well as a Golden Globe Award for Best Foreign Language film in 2015,

TANGERINES is the spare, yet haunting take of an older Estonian man who cares for two wounded soldiers from opposite sides of the 1990s-era war in Georgia. The film reveals compassion to be the ultimate response to centuries of political, cultural and ethnic conflict, a compelling and relevant message for contemporary audiences.
